1525-30

This silk and cotton damask, a reproduction of a design dating from the Louis XV period, has been highly appreciated since its creation. It has always been one of our best-selling designs and we therefore decided to re-colour it keeping the classic nature of the original version whilst proposing richer shades with greater contrast between the ground and the motif. In this way the motifs of poppies and pomegranates linked by branches are slightly more visible on the satin ground.
