

LES CHINOIS - MARINE ***

1528-40

A damask with Chinese figures and pagodas. Silk fabrics with Chinese designs were the consequence of the influence of the East and Far East, due to massive imports by the French, Dutch, English, East India and Levant Companies, combined with the taste for splendour and the court's imagination. The popularity of Chinese ornamentation or "chinoiserie" was at its height in the 18th century.
