

BAGATELLE – FOND CREME *

1607-01

A faïlle printed with scattered roses as a background and a motif of a bouquet of flowers in an oval formed by ribbon with a bow. This type of motif was very widespread in the mid 1790s. Many similar fabrics dating from 1786 were found at the back of the Furniture Storage. The trade in these painted fabrics imitating "pekings" developed in Lyon from the 1740s. These fabrics continued to be very popular throughout the 18th century. Many of these fabrics were found in royal residences. For example, in Saint-Cloud, Marie-Antoinette's room was decorated with a pèkin with a white ground decorated with branches, birds and butterflies.

Collection	PATRIMOINE
------------	------------

Brand	TASSINARI & CHATEL
-------	--------------------

TECHNICAL DATA

Composition	Silk 100%
-------------	-----------

Width	130 cm
-------	--------

Repeat cut	No
------------	----

Vertical repeat	60 cm
-----------------	-------

Drop match	No
------------	----

Care
------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Uses
------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Weight / Linear metre	135 g
-----------------------	-------

LELIEVRE

PARIS

BAGATELLE – FOND CREME ***

1607-01

