Contrée Sauvage

With Contrée Sauvage, Lelièvre Paris explores an imaginary, arid, and rich land where materials become wild, organic, and instinctive.

This high-performance collection captures the very essence of desert landscapes, where the dry heat of the wind clashes with shadows, and where fabric and rug patterns transform into mineral, animal, or botanical forms.

Rendered in a rich, textured palette, the fabrics and rugs evoke natural materials: the roughness of earth, the shades of bark, date palm fronds, tawny hides, and the shifting reflections of light. These visual and olfactory references bring warmth and character, while meeting technical requirements such as fire resistance, heavy use, and wide widths. Contrée Sauvage plays with contrasts: an immersive printed canvas, a rug and tweed-like bouclette with spicy notes, elegant swirling jacquards, as well as graphic stripes and knits.

L'OASIS, printed in wide width, is the starting point of the Contrée Sauvage collection. It draws the eye with its large, stylized botanical motifs and contrasting colour palettes, evoking lush nature emerging like a mirage in the heart of the desert. Its soft, fluid, and lightweight texture makes it an ideal choice for curtains.
